Lawrence And Carleton Fight For Second Place In Midwest

VIKINGS AND CARLS ENGAGE AT NORTHFIELD

Kotal Drives Squad During Week In Preparation For Important Game

By Austin Stegath

Coach Edward Kotal and a Viking grid squad of 25 men will leave this morning for Northfield, Minn., where tomorrow they will battle with the Carleton College eleven in a Midwest conference game. The tilt will be the last of the five outside games that were on the blue and white card this fall.

With the return of co-captain Ken Laird to the squad and the definite announcement that he would be able to start against the Carltonians, the spirit in the Viking football stronghold has heightened considerably. No major injuries were reported from the Beloit game last week, and the regulars seem to be ready and fit for the engagement tomorrow. Phenicie, flankman, received a scratched eyeball, and several of the men have bruises and sprained fingers, but all the players saw action in practice scrimmages this week.

Use Flood Lights

Not entirely satisfied with the showing his men made last week end despite their victory, Kotal has driven his squad at a lively clip through the week. Flood lights played across the field while the frosh battled to stop the Vike first and second stringers from running a rampage. Much of the time Wednesday was devoted to blocking and charging work for the linemen. Poor line play has been one of the disappointing features of the blue and white this season, and Kotal has been using all the time he could to correct the weakness.

The varsity mentor is still seeking a brainy and clever quarterback to guide the team. Poor headwork has cost the Vikings many first downs and probable scores to date. Frankle, Fischl, Morton, Calhoun, and Feind have all been alternating at the signal calling post, but none seems to have the desired qualities of a crack field general. It is still problematical as to who will get the first call Saturday.

Seeks Morale Bolster

If the Vikings are going to win tomorrow, the head coach feels he will have to find some means of keeping up the morale of the gridsters when things start going against them. The locals were playing bang up ball at Ripon until the redskins pushed over a score. Then the Vikes cracked and were completely demoralized. The same was evident in the Carroll game.

Offensively, this season the Vikings have been woefully ragged. Paul Fischl, the best of the ball carriers, has not had good interference, and only has been able to unreel his sparkling runs from kick offs and not from scrimmage formations. The "flying Dutchman" as he is better known, has not missed a game in which he has failed to run one punt or kick off back at least 30 yards. At Ripon the fleet back raced a kick off back 45 yards and was stopped by the last of the Ripon players between himself and the goal posts. In the Beloit game last week the co-captain tucked a punt under his arm and reeled off a 55 yard dash for the lone blue and white touchdown. However, the rest of the backs have been playing indifferently and have been weak running mates for Fischl.

Byrd To Explain Pole Phenomena

Explorer Will Show Pictures Taken On Southern Trip In Lecture Wednesday

Tickets are now on sale at Bellings Drug Store for the illustrated lecture to be delivered by Richard E. Byrd, Rear Admiral USN, in Lawrence Memorial chapel, Nov. 19. Commander Byrd comes to Appleton under the auspices of the Appleton Woman's club. Seats are priced at $1, $1.50, and $2.

With the aid of some of the thousands of pictures taken during the stay in Little America, Commander Byrd will explain many of the curious phenomena of animal life and physical formations in the antarctic region.

Data gathered by the Byrd expedition filled in many of the blank spots in regard to continent. They aided in producing basically sound maps, brought back enlightening information of the reaction of metals, lubricants, and motors to extreme cold.

The Commander's airplane dash to the pole on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28, 1929, is another of the epochal events of the trip. Byrd is the only man who has sent and received radio messages from both north and south poles. Radio connections with the United States during the entire stay in Little America led to the solution of many stubborn scientific problems.

Former Lawrence Professor Attends Anniversary Here

Rev. R. H. Hannum, member of the English staff at Lawrence for three years, and now pastor of the First Community church, Benton Harbor, Mich., attended the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Appleton Presbyterian church celebration, Thursday. He was entertained at the home of Dr. John R. Denyes, professor of religion and missions, during his stay in Appleton.

Professor Jacobsen Has Article In Magazine

O. Irving Jacobsen, Mus. Dr., associate professor of public school music research at the Conservatory, has written an article, "The Present Status of Research in Public School Music," which appears in the November-December issue of the "Supervisors' Service Bulletin," magazine devoted to the interests of public school music supervisors.

CASTS CHOSEN FOR FRESHMEN TRIO OF PLAYS

Sunset Members Direct Yearlings In Productions To Be Given Dec. 3 and 4

Announcement of the casts of the three plays to be presented in the Little Theatre December 3 and 4 by the college freshmen was made this week by F. Theodore Cloak, professor of dramatics of Lawrence College.

The plays and the casts are:

"Suppressed Desire" Steven Carl Senne Henrietta Kathleen Stewart Mabel Dorothy Edwards "Young America" Jack Doray Robert Lawe Edith Doray Betty Meyer Arthur Simpson Irving Peters Nutty Beemer Howard Anderson Judge Rules Gile "Dark of the Dawn" Basil Tollocho Roland Beyer Andaras Auequo Stan Severson Gerhard A. Sterr Hugo Jack Scoggin "Suppressed Desire" is being directed by Carmen Negrescou; "Young America" is being directed by John Cinkosky, and "Dark of the Dawn" by Margaret Heckle. All three plays are under the direct supervision of Prof. Cloak, however.

Response Pleases

Prof. Cloak was extremely satisfied with the response of the freshmen to the announcement of try-outs for these three plays and is certain that a wealth of dramatic material has been uncovered in the freshmen class as a result of the plan to present these plays with freshmen composing the entire cast in each case.

The twelve people in the casts of these three plays were chosen from 65 men and women who tried out. Prof. Cloak stated in announcing the casts that in spite of the fact that everyone who tried out for the plays did not receive a part in the casts, he should not be disappointed at his apparent failure but should continue to try out for plays in the future.

Real Opportunity

Under the direction of Mr. Cloak, the freshmen for the first time are

Business Staff Of 17 Announced

Beckley Makes Selection From Field Of 30; Three Get Managerial Posts

Following tryouts for positions on the business staff of the Lawrentian, 17 men were named Thursday by George Beckley, '31, business manager. The successful candidates were chosen from a field of 30.

Wilmer Krueger, John Koehler, and Jack Scoggin were named to managerial posts to assist in circulation, advertising, and copy-writing. Assistants to Krueger in the circulation department are Kenneth Johnson, James DeCock, Russell Swanson, Albert Nohr, Charles Retterer, and Albert Roate. Wayne Williams, Phillip Vanderheyden, Owen Sensenbrenner, and Carl Bury, were named to assist Koehler, and Scoggin's aides as advertising copyists are Benjamin Raloth, Irving Peters, John Schneider, and Herman Alwin.

In creating a new department for copy writers, Beckley stated that it was an attempt to familiarize all workers on the business staff with a thorough and complete knowledge of the duties of the business manager, to which position all the candidates are working.

getting a real opportunity to show their talent, instead of having to wait until their later years in college. This not only gives the individual a greater opportunity for dramatic development for his own benefit, but it also will mean better dramatic presentations on the Lawrence campus in the future.

This plan of plays for freshmen also will give the yearlings a greater opportunity for membership in Sunset Players, for each one taking part in the play or assisting in its production will receive points towards membership in the dramatic club. Hereafter, Mr. Cloak explained, membership in Sunset was granted only to those who appeared in plays. The point system for admission to Sunset is part of the general revision of the entrance requirements as outlined by Mr. Cloak early this year.

Tickets On Sale Monday For Paderewski Concert

Noted Pianist Comes Here Dec. 9; His Playing Is Still Superb, Critics Say

By Helen Hector

The name of Paderewski is one which needs no introduction. Since 1887 when he made his debut in Vienna, since London acclaimed him the "master pianist" in 1890, and since he took America by storm in 1891, he has been considered the world's greatest piano virtuoso.

Now, after more than 40 years of world-wide fame, he is coming to America again for his seventeenth tour. New York critics say that his concert in Carnegie hall on Nov. 1, was as sensational as his first concert there, and the music of 70 years is as superb as that of his youth.

Olin Downes, of the New York Times, says of this concert: "There was of course much curiosity to discover just how completely the physical powers of the pianist who will have his seventieth birthday next week (November 6) have been retained. Mr. Paderewski met this curiosity by one of his typical gigantic programs, and did not leave his listeners long in doubt on these matters. After playing the numbers on the printed program, he added a second recital to it, in the form of encores, and remained at the piano for three hours, waxing ever more fiery, eloquent, recklessly but surely master of his art."

This program which took New York by storm, is the same which will be played by Paderewski in Appleton, on Dec. 6. This will be a special concert aside from the Artist Series, and tickets will be on sale at Bellings Monday, Nov. 17, at $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, and $3.00.

An extensive advertising program is being carried on by the Conservatory, announcements having been sent to cities in all parts of this region, to Green Bay, Two Rivers, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Manitowoc, Wausau, and Escanaba, Mich.

IGNACE PADEREWSKI

The world famed pianist will give a concert in Memorial chapel Dec. 9 under the auspices of the Lawrence conservatory of music.

Give Brokaw Scholarship Test in Latin Tomorrow

The annual examination in Latin for the Norman Brokaw scholarships will be given in Dr. A. H. Weston's room, Main hall, Saturday at 1:30 o'clock. Prizes are $60 and $40. Freshmen taking third year Latin are eligible for competition.

Students Invited To Hear Lecture

Teachers' Association Engages Dr. Fishbein, "Quack" Opponent

Students and faculty of Lawrence College will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Morris Fishbein, who has been engaged by the Appleton Teachers' Association to speak at their annual banquet to be held at the Conway Hotel, Monday, Nov. 17, 6:15 o'clock.

Dr. Fishbein is one of America's foremost opponents of "quackery," and through the columns of many magazines, among them Hygeia, which he edits, and through books he has written he has led attacks against current superstitions regarding health and foods and tricks that are used.

His talks, a mixture of common sense and scintillating wit, have a wide appeal and he will come to Appleton highly recommended.

The Appleton Teachers' Association has invited the Outagamie Medical Society and the Dental Society to attend this meeting as well as Lawrence students. Those wishing to attend should make reservations with Leland Delorge, '26, at the senior high school before 5 o'clock Friday, Nov. 14.

To Read "Green Pastures" At Campus Club Meeting

Campus club will meet at Ormsby hall, Nov. 15. Mrs. M. A. Wertheimer, Kaukauna, will read "Green Pastures," by Marc Connelly. Mrs. A. A. Trever is in charge of the dinner and Mrs. R. V. Landis is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Conservatory Students Give Recitals Monday

General student recital will be presented at the Conservatory, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The studios of Miss Brainard, Mrs. Fullinwider, Miss Mueller, Miss Farrell, Mr. Fullinwider, Mr. Moore, and Mr. Framp-ton will be represented.

History club picture will be taken at the Harwood Studio, Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 1 o'clock.

16th CENTURY DRAMA TO BE GIVEN DEC. 12

Tryouts Begin This Afternoon In Little Theatre; Open To Any Student

By Hollace Roberts

"Everyman," a morality play written in the sixteenth century by an anonymous writer, has been chosen by F. Theodore Cloak, professor of dramatics at Lawrence College, as the first all-college dramatic presentation to be given this year. It will be presented in Memorial chapel December 12.

Initial try-outs for membership on the cast of the production have been set for this afternoon at the Little Theatre. Try-outs will be held from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. Scripts have been available at the library for the past two days and may be studied there, Professor Cloak announced, until time for try-outs this afternoon.

Expect Large Tryout

In spite of the fact that "Everyman" in form presents a radical departure from the usual comparatively light drama or comedy typical of college dramatic presentations, Professor Cloak has predicted that a large number of aspirants to positions in the cast will report at the initial tryout today.

This play is to be presented by the Lawrence College Theatre and the parts are open to any student in college. Unlike the last college play, "The Truth About Blayds," it is not limited to members of Sunset Players. "Everyman" is one of several plays to be presented by casts drawn from the entire student body.

Morality Play

Although written in the sixteenth century and chiefly for sixteenth century audiences, this morality play, one of the many famous allegories of English literature, is still in prominence as a dramatic production. During the present year it has enjoyed a successful run in Germany, given in German, and several years ago it ran for weeks in New York City where it was presented by the Max Reinhardt players.

"Everyman" has its entire action in one act. But in this one act is crammed drama, such that it has probably more universality or universal appeal than any other play written.

Life, Death Theme

It deals with life and the inevitable—death. The play opens with God summoning Death to call Everyman. Feigning to be unprepared for Death, Everyman seeks to hold off his trip into Eternity. Unable to turn back Death, Everyman attempts to take Knowledge, Wits, Money and Relatives with him to Heaven, but each one refuses. Good Deeds, although weak, is the only one who consents to make the long journey with Everyman. The entire play teaches and advises of the necessity for thought of God and the need for goodness and Godliness while making the voyage through life.

"Everyman" is something entirely different from anything that has been attempted at Lawrence for several years, Mr. Cloak stated, and, undoubtedly, will prove to be one of the "heaviest" and most difficult dramatic presentations ever attempted on the campus.

PASSING COMMENT

Are Trophies Important?

Early in the year the scholarship cup award was abolished. Since that time there has been heard some comment favoring complete abolishment of the system of trophy awards in the intramural sports program. This would include all three divisions of the intramural sports, the all college or individual branch, and the two organized team leagues, consisting of fraternity and non-fraternity men, respectively.

This request was brought up and discussed at the last meeting of the interfraternity council, and points both for and against were raised. It is a problem in which all men, interested in athletics, should show a keen interest, and the Lawrentian wishes to present it for consideration at this time.

If trophies were abolished would interest wane? would the calibre of competition take a drop? Just how much on the awarding of trophies to the winner in each sport, does the success of the program depend? Are trophies an unnecessary expense?

Of Service, Blue Key

With the administrative officers of Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, which has a Lawrence chapter, pleading that there is nothing on this campus for Blue Key to do we make a little suggestion.

What is ever done for visiting athletic teams who come to Appleton? As always they come to town by bus or train, go to the hotel, wait until game time, go to the gymnasium, compete, return to the hotel, and leave by train or bus. Is it not possible that visiting athletes spread information about Lawrence after a visit? Do we not give them a good view of the interior of Alexander gymnasium? But what else?

We suggest, therefore, Blue Key, that you assume an obligation to meet visiting athletic teams, show them the campus, invite them to your fraternity houses. Golden Key society, a similar organization at Marquette, does such service, for example. Numerous times a basketball squad, small in size, is forced to remain over night after a contest. Why not show them around?

Physical Fitness and Academic Achievement

According to Dr. George B. Emerson, director of physical education for men at Boston University, "The minute a man begins to show a drop in the excellence of his academic work . . . in nine cases out of ten, I find he is not giving himself proper physical care, and naturally he cannot produce the standard of mental work of which he has been capable up to this point."

A little reflection on the above statement should bring about a realization that this is true at Lawrence College, also, and that it may be your trouble.

It is a fact, that although most college students come from homes where their habits of living have been conducive to a healthy life, after a few weeks at college, they develop a flock of bad habits, the worst of which are excessive eating between meals, and the half-baked notion that sleep is not so important. This is especially true of freshmen, who, when they become seniors, begin to realize the "folly of their ways," and at the age of forty wonder what is wrong with their whole systems.

G-E floodlighting equipment has a winning record. Its victories are counted in terms of pleased spectators, increased attendance, satisfied coaches and players.

The development of G-E athletic-field floodlighting equipment was planned with every consideration for the fundamental and special playing conditions it must meet. That is why the big Novalux projectors give ample and evenly diffused light over the entire playing area.

The development of General Electric floodlighting equipment has largely been the work of college-trained men in the G-E organization—other college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in furnishing the many other products which bear the G-E monogram.

One thing Lawrence needs, and we won't make any "bones" about it, is a trophy case. For some unknown reason, no plans were made for such in the new Alexander gymnasium, and no serious attempt has ever been made to have one put in. Most of the students are perhaps unaware that Lawrence College track teams, winners of the Big Four championship for three consecutive years, might bring some trophies or plaques back as a result of their conquests. Maybe trophies are not the thing in college athletic circles, but the fact remains that coach Denney has been quite perplexed as to the disposal of the rewards. Several decorate his office window making a none-too-impressive picture, mainly because of their extreme "out-of-placeness" (with full apologies to Webster). The athletic director also has many trophies at his home because of the lack of a suitable place to arrange them.

It seems rather strange that throughout the history of this institution of learning, no organization or graduating class saw fit to give a trophy case to the college. Perhaps such a gift would be more or less vulgar in its appeal to some, but to us, hardly. (Sports writers are rather crude etc.). So consequently we suggest that the "L" CLUB TAKE THE RESPONSIBILITY TO SEE WHAT CAN BE DONE? To us, again, it would seem that the "L" club take the initial step for sible function other than wielding the paddle.

We will admit that a college trophy case hasn't the grounds for necessity as in high school, but nevertheless, it still has its place in the athletic life on every campus. Visitors attending basketball games have often looked around for some recognition marks of Viking athletic prowess, but have never seen such for the simple reason that during all these years no trophy case was to be had! We don't feel that the athletic board should authorize the purchase of a "L" club take a step towards securing one.

Yearlings Clash With St. Johns Tomorrow

ACADEMY TEAM WILL BE STRONG FOE FOR FROSH

Delafield Squad Has Dangerous Passing And Running Attack

By Henry Connor

Defeated 20 to 6 by the powerful Michigan Military academy eleven last Saturday, Coach Einar Tangen's frosh grid hopefuls went through a series of stiff signal drills this week in preparation for their last battle of the year against St. John's military academy at Delafield, Saturday.

Looming as a more dangerous foe than the Wolverine academy, the Delafield squad is leaving nothing undone to make the afternoon a decidedly uncomfortable one for Coach Tangen's charges. With a passing attack that has been the despair of their opposition all season, and an off tackle drive that is unusual for a prep squad, the St. John's aggregation is being primed for the Vike frosh battle.

Beat Ripon Frosh

Already victorious over a supposedly powerful Ripon freshman eleven, 13 to 7, St. Johns has an array of heavy linemen and a set of fleet backs that make their peculiar type of running plays unusually effective. Resorting mostly to smashes at the line and slants inside the ends, the Delafield troupe has virtually steam-rollered its opponents into submission all season.

The Viking front wall, which performed fairly well in all but the final quarter of the Michigan military game, was given plenty of attention in Wednesday night's drill against the varsity and should be a vastly improved unit by Saturday.

Backfield Hopes

Coach Tangen still pinned his backfield hopes on Edwards, Hartman, Fahres, and Grogan, despite the fact that this combination seemed a bit off color last week. Hartman's choice of plays was for the most part excellent, but the blocking of the backs on interference was decidedly weak at times, and Coach Tangen has taken corrective measures in this regard.

Ripon And Beloit Meet In Last Big "4" Game of Year

Beloit College will make a last desperate attempt tomorrow to break into the win column of the Big Four conference at Ripon as guests of the crimson eleven. Doehling's men must win tomorrow's exhibition if they want a secure claim to second place. A victory for the downstaters would force Ripon into a tie with Lawrence, both teams then having won one and lost two.

Martin Back

With the return of Rodney Martin to the lineup, the redskins will have their full strength for the first time in several weeks. Martin, one of the mainstays of the line, was injured in the Marquette game. Beloit has a highly touted aerial attack, but has not yet had a chance to show it.

Eddie Kotal's Vikings will fight to keep their hold on second place in the Midwest pennant chase Saturday when they meet the strong Carletonian team at Northfield. Coach Hunt's men are doped to win largely because of the Vikings miserable exhibitions during the last three weeks. Lawrence fans, however, are hoping that their veteran eleven will come through with a victory.

Coe Plays Knox

Coe College will continue its quest for the second Midwest championship in a row, traveling over to Galesburg, Illinois to play Knox. Last year the two teams fought it out for the Midwest crown with Coe emerging on top by a 5 to 3 count. Despite the fact that the Illinois college has combined with Lombard, the football season has not been a decided success. Last week the Galesburg eleven took a 7 to 6 defeat from Cornell, at present tied for first place with Coe.

Junior, Senior Women Meet In Hockey Match

Junior and senior hockey teams will meet this afternoon in the first round of the field hockey tournament.

Betty Wiley, '31, and Mildred Hess, '32, senior and junior managers respectively, have announced probable line-ups as follows: Seniors: center, Irene Ungrodt; inners, Mary McCormick and Betty Wiley; r. wing, Verna Lauritzen; half - backs, Eleanor Weeks, Dorothea Krause, and Mary Powell; full-backs, Jane Jolliffe and Beatrice Miller; goal, Esther Schauer.

Juniors: center, Betty Plowright; inners, Joyce Nienstedt and Ruth Nickel or Alphonse Espeseth; wings, Mary Cook and Dorothy Calnin or Maurine Engel; half-backs, Caroline Weifenbach, Mildred Hess, and Dorothy Gough; full-backs, Alicia Kumpula and Genevieve Klewickis or Fola Norton; goal, Ellen Lewis.

On Monday the freshmen and sophomores, both with strong teams, will play. Having won the tournament last year, the sophomores will try hard to retain their title.

Theta Phi fraternity entertained members of the interfraternity council at dinner Wednesday. A business meeting was held after the dinner.

Vikings Travel North For Carl Game Tomorrow

Carleton had a chance to look over the Lawrence plays when both teams took part in a double bill at the University of Wisconsin Oct. 4, but since then Kotal has made several drastic changes in his offense. The northern team boasts of a high powered running attack and only uses the overhead route of attack when behind. Last week they lost to Coe College, at present in a tie with Cornell for the Midwest title. An infantile paralysis quarantine kept the Northfield gridders on the inactive list for a two week span, but they have sufficiently recovered from any ill effects they may have suffered.

The Vike forward wall must prepare itself for the thrusts of Thoeny, Broberg and Nordly. These men have been cutting up the turf on gridiron all season and are especially dangerous open field runners as well. In the line Coach Hunt has such men as Perrin and Young, ends, Carson and Spurbeck, guards, and either Nicholson or Price for the pivot post.

Reports from the Carleton headquarters indicate that the Huntsmen are set to close their season with a victory at the expense of Lawrence.

Bartsch Takes Campus C. C. Run

Veteran Harrier Does Course In 17:53; Seig, Nelson Tie For Second

With varsity cross country definitely over for the year, members of the Vike squad showed their heels to the rest of the long distance field in Wednesday's intramural run. The order of finish found Bartsch first, Sieg and Nelson tied for second, and Kieth fourth.

Running the 3.2 mile course in the fast time of 17:53, Bartsch finished well in front of the pack. Nelson, who last Saturday ran with the frosh against Green Bay and took a first place, put up a determined effort for about half the distance, but the superior stamina of Bartsch and Sieg swung the balance in their favor.

Bud Kieth ran well to finish fourth, while Elozando, crossed the line in fifth position. Other finishers in their order were Walters, Dobbs, Gram, and Ralph.

WOMEN THE WHOLE WORLD ENVIES

Laura La Plante

THEY wear the latest clothes with such stunning effects. For every woman within this charmed circle there are thousands dieting to achieve such a figure.

Some succeed. But too many pay the penalty. Weight may be lost but years of age are often added. The skin becomes sallow. The eyes tired. Energy is lost.

The diet that produces such unhappy results frequently lacks roughage.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet helps you keep fit.

ALL-BRAN does not add fat to the body. But its abundant bulk relieves and prevents internal congestion safely. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

News From Other Colleges

Paul Kozelka

St. Olaf College—The Association of American Universities has placed St. Olaf on its accepted list of fully accredited schools on the record of the graduate work of alumni.

Hood College—Because of the recent drought, co-eds are limited to one bath per week on the program of restricted water consumption laid down by the college town.

University of Miami—Students of deep-sea zoology don bathing suits and diving helmets and descend to the bottom of the sea to study marine life.

University of Wisconsin—Prof. Troutman announced tryouts last week for "The World We Live In," known otherwise as "The Insect Comedy," which calls for a cast of more than 100 players. The play is a fantastic extravaganza of political and social satire, commenting on life and death. The first act shows the follies of the rich, portrayed as butterflies. The second act will be represented by beetles as an allegorical figure for the middle class of money grabbing misers. The third act alludes to real life in several scenes with parasites representing those classes which are feeding off others, while the last act is a satire on capitalism and labor. Only one character, that of a tramp, continues throughout the entire play.

Eau Claire—"There was a huge splash and a great roar as the sophomores threw Kenneth Solberg, enormous freshman leader, into the waters of Minnow Creek on freshman-sophomore day, Oct. 15."

Kenneth Solberg, mentioned in this clipping from The Spectator, of Eau Claire State Teachers' College, was enrolled at Lawrence during the first semester last year.

Philatelic Society Plans Exhibit For Appleton and Lawrence Stamp Addicts

Student stamp collectors will again have an opportunity to view the collections of prominent Appleton collectors and will have opportunity to win prizes to be offered for junior collections in the second annual exhibit to be sponsored by the Appleton Philatelic Society in the Conway Hotel, Nov. 22, 23.

Considerable student interest in stamp collecting has been noticeable here during the last several years, some enthusiasts having collections worth several thousands of dollars. College students are classed as junior collectors by the Appleton society when it awards prizes for such displays.

Many prominent Appleton business men are members of the society or have collections of interest. One Appleton man will display his collection worth more than $80,000. Some of the Appleton residents known to the college students are: Prof. John Ross Frampton, Prof. Fred Tresize, William Zuelke, Judson Rosebush, George Schmidt and W. O. Thiede.

The society is making plans for a banquet at the hotel Nov. 23, and is attempting to bring a stamp specialist from Chicago to deliver the feature address of the evening.

French Club

French club will meet Thursday, Nov. 20, at Hamar House. French music will be a feature of the program.
